F O R E W O R D

With the present exhibition the Lyme group records a third of a century of its activities, the twenty-third year of its organization as the Lyme Art Association, and the fifteenth year of its ownership of a gallery planned and built by artist members. From a single exhibit of but three days' duration has emerged a trio of exhibitions extending from early June into late September. These embrace the annual Water Color show, the eleventh of which closed but recently; the current exhibition, and the Autumn show which will be opened this September 7th for the third successive year. As the Lyme group's activities have increased so, likewise, has public interest. Recalling the relatively small attendance of earlier days it is significant that last season's exhibitions attracted visitors from twenty-nine states and several foreign countries. Works by present artist members are found in more than seventy American and foreign galleries—some as near as the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, others as far distant as the National Gallery of New Zealand. Many of the men and women there represented are nationally and even internationally known. For though the Lyme country is the adopted homeland of more than half of the Association's artist members, only seven were Connecticut born. Thirty count their places of birth among fifteen states and four European countries.
